RE: Recommendation Letter
Davis Constructors & Engineers, Inc.

To whom it may concern,

We are pleased to recommend Davis Constructors for project construction and management services and we do so without hesitation.

KPB and Davis (Luke Blomfield, Dean Cagle and Gaute Johansen) recently completed work on a new 28,000 sf facility for Providence St. Joseph Health. The delivery method was design assist. Throughout the design process, Luke offered forthright information on budget and scheduling strategies which proved critical to achieving the client's goals for the project. Also important to the success of the project were his support and sensitivity to design objectives.

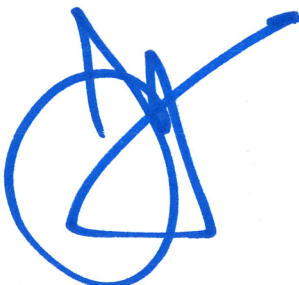

We found Davis' management of the construction process to be efficient and organized with consistent weekly team meetings and follow up. All team members understood expectations and project milestones. With support from Gaute, Luke and Dean demonstrated outstanding problem-solving skills, professionalism, teamwork and leadership. Their high expectations coupled with a positive attitude made working with them a pleasure.

Having worked with Davis on many projects over the years we find that they consistently set the bar high for themselves and team members with regard to construction standards and expertise. They maintain strong relationships with sub-contractors in the community, ensuring performance from all team members.

We are further impressed with Davis' unwavering support for client objectives. Their ability to speak and respond intelligently to client needs is evident in the longstanding relationships and repeat work they enjoy with many institutions in the community.

It is our pleasure to provide the highest recommendation for Davis Constructors.

Sincerely,
KPB Architects Inc.
